HILLSBORO NEGROES DENIED RESTRAINER

ONE OF THE FIRST STEPS TO DO SOMETHING about the filth and corruption in Paint Creek has been taken by the Washington C. H. Council. The picture above shows an accumulation of stinking scum near the Sycamore Street bridge. This is what has aroused the Fish and Game Association as well as the city council. Similar accumulations dotted the creek along most of its course through the city. It is to get rid of this sort of pollution that arrangements were made about two weeks ago by City Manager James F. Parkinson by Byrd & Tietzel, consulting sanitary engineers of Columbus, to make a study of the interceptor sewer that parallels the creek and the manholes. Council is expected to give final approval at tonight's meeting to an expenditure of $1,500 for the investigation by Byrd & Tietzel.

Official Washington Gloomy Over Europe Defense Setup

WASHINGTON (AP)—Study of new French proposals for solving the German rearmament dilemma has left official Washington in a gloomy mood about the future of European defenses.

The general conclusion is that any satisfactory solution of the German problem will require substantial adjustment of national interests of several countries.

In particular, it is said, there must be concessions by France from the plan circulated last week-end by Premier Mendes-France.

The prospect is that whatever adjustments are made will be slow and painful to work out.

Next week's nine-power conference in London is more likely to be a kind of preliminary discussion of the whole issue than a conference which will produce final decisions.

Yet top American officials are hopeful that final decisions can be reached fairly soon, even negative ones if they are inescapable.

SOME ARE emphatic in saying decisions must be reached soon because of a conviction that West German sovereignty and rearmament can not be held in suspension much longer without fostering a spirit of extreme German nationalism.

Just yesterday German Chancellor Adenauer called for a quick declaration to end the occupation and give Germany full sovereignty.

The critical issue presented by the Mendes-France memorandum, as officials here analyze it, is whether the French premier is really willing to let West Germany rearm without seeking some safeguards which would amount to making her a second-rate power.

There is great concern here, for example, that the French plan would mean a delay for West German membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The implication of public statements by Mendes-France and the provisions of his still secret memorandum have been taken to mean that he would prefer to stall off an equal role for West Germany in NATO while accepting her in a regional West European defensive alliance made at Brussels in 1948.

Vinton County Village Rocked By Slayings

MCARTHUR (AP)—Nearby Prattsville, with a population of 46, yesterday was the scene of two violent deaths, termed apparent murder and suicide by Coroner Joseph E. Strong.

Dead were Mrs. Clyde Peters, 54, operator of a general store, and William H. Frantz of McArthur, 64-year-old novelty salesman. The woman's body, with three bullet holes in the chest, was found behind a counter in the store. The body of Frantz burned in a flaming car parked in front of the store.

Vinton County Sheriff William Brown said two .38 caliber revolvers were found near the scene. He said one had been discharged four times and the other, apparently due to the heat of the burning car, had been fired once.

The sheriff also said that about $1,000 was missing from the store. Sheriff's deputies said Frantz apparently set fire to the car after leaving the store, then shot himself.

Mrs. Peters, who operated the store with her husband, was the mother of six children. One son, Charles, 16, discovered her body after he saw the burning car from his home nearby.

Estranged Mate Kills Wife, Self

BOWLING GREEN (AP)—A construction worker killed his wife in a grocery here yesterday then shot himself to death.

Police Chief Guy Stittler said the couple, William Fite, 42, and his wife, Jane, 25, had separated a few days before. They were married about five years.

Mrs. Fite died last night in Wood County Hospital several hours after she was wounded by a .22 caliber target pistol slug. Fite was found in his car parked near a road a few miles west of here.

Steelman Killed

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Harmon Hood, 50, of nearby Wheelersburg, was killed yesterday when he fell 18 feet from an open hearth furnace at Detroit Steel Corp.

Prison Break Attempt Ends In 22 Minutes

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A bold attempt to break out of Cabell County jail was thwarted by police last night in 22 action-packed minutes.

The would-be jail breakers used a heavy steel table leg to pry open an inner cell door on the fifth floor. When Deputy Jailor Lakin Rowsey and a trusty prisoner opened an outer door, they were pounced on and tossed into a cell.

Rowsey's call for help was heard by Jailor William Moses on the ground floor. Moses telephoned for reinforcements, then rushed to the elevator.

When encountered by the armed Moses, the prisoners shut the elevator door and started up again. Moses ordered another trusty to cut off the electric power and the elevator stopped between the first and second floors.

Using controls in the jail office, Moses brought the elevator back to the first floor and the six stepped out under gunpoint. One tried to run but was subdued with a mace.

Autumn Weather Here Day Early

CHICAGO (AP)—Today was the last full day of the summer season, but cool fall weather was ahead of schedule in areas between the Rockies and the Appalachians. Some of the cool air seeped into parts of the South. The autumn season starts at 8:56 a. m., EST, Thursday.

Skies were mostly clear over the clear cool belt and there wasn't much rain in any section of the country early today. Temperatures were in the 30s over wide areas from the Dakotas eastward through the Mississippi Valley.

202 Persons Safe After Ship Sinks

OSLO, Norway (AP)—A little Norwegian coastal steamer grounded at full speed in the Arctic waters of the Lofoten Islands before dawn today and, after all but one of the 203 persons aboard had reached lifeboats, shattered and sank.

The body of the one man who perished was recovered.

The ship, which went down in the Strait of Raftsund, was carrying 157 passengers and 46 crew members. Most of the passengers were sleeping in their cabins when the shoals caved in the hull.

2 Fliers Killed In Landing Mishap

OTIS, Mass. (AP)—Two Air Force fliers were killed and three others escaped injury in the crash of three jet airplanes after landing in foul weather last night.

Air Force officials blamed the crashes on a flat tire and a torrential rainfall which shut out visibility and made radio communication between the planes and the control tower so erratic that messages could not be understood.

Rhodes Audit On Turnpike Said 'False'

Republican Candidate For Governor Hits Law Ties Of Road Chairman

COLUMBUS (AP)—A state auditor's report on the Ohio Turnpike Commission today claimed contractors building the Northern Ohio Turnpike bought $50 million worth of insurance from two firms represented by a law firm headed by the commission chairman.

The commission chairman, James W. Shocknessy, immediately termed the report "utterly false" and accused the state auditor of indulging in a "whispering campaign of slur and slander."

The state auditor is James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor. His opponent in the election campaign is incumbent Gov. Frank J. Lausche, the Democrat who appointed Shocknessy to his turnpike job.

The report made public by the state auditor's office lists what it calls "improper transactions of commission agents" regarding sales of land near the 241-mile turnpike.

The report was prepared by Donald C. Cook, supervising auditor for turnpike audits in Rhodes' office. Copies today went to Lausche, the Turnpike Commission, the attorney general, C. William O'Neill, and clerks of both houses of the General Assembly.

Shocknessy called the audit report political in nature and "designed as a character assassination of human beings and of an activity that has been clean since its inception."

The accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. of Columbus audits the balance sheet and statement on construction costs of the commission. Referring to that firm, Shocknessy said:

"They aren't running for governor of Ohio, so they aren't looking for the same thing."

He concluded by saying he did not intend to get in any further arguments about the report. He said he was reminded of a Chinese proverb which he quoted as:

"Never engage in a contest with a small black animal with a light stripe down its back."

Gov. Lausche had this to say (Please Turn to Page Two)

Phone Firm Tells Stand In Murray Case

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Bell Telephone Co. experts today told the state utilities commission why the company objects to telephone answering devices other than those it owns and installs.

The testimony came in a case in which Thomas G. Murray, vending machine operator of Washington C. H., is fighting to keep such device he bought himself for $400. Murray uses the machine in his business. It records telephone calls when he is away from home.

Ohio Bell witnesses were Jere Cave Jr. of Columbus, a building and equipment engineer, and Nathan Baker of Columbus, general commercial engineer.

Cave's testimony was admitted despite the objection of Murray's attorney, Reed M. Winegardner of Washington C. H. Cave told of a device Murray has and Winegardner asserted that testimony should be confined to the machine Murray owns.

Yesterday Murray said his machine gave him no trouble. Today Cave testified a similar device he bought for testing could develop trouble and affect both telephone equipment and service.

Baker told the commission about a company rule, filed with the commission, that prohibits "foreign attachments" to telephone equipment. Cave will continue his testimony tomorrow.

15 Three-Year-Olds To Go In Little Brown Jug Pace

DELAWARE (AP)—The largest field in history, 14 colts and a filly, will go after the $69,332.06 purse in the Little Brown Jug pace for three-year-olds tomorrow at the Delaware County Fair.

The purse is about $3,000 above the record set in 1951, making it the richest racing event in history and the greatest for any harness race over a half-mile track.

The owners, because of the huge field, decided to split the race into two divisions. Each division will race two heats, and the four heat winners will return for the fifth and payoff jaunt.

Twenty per cent of the purse will ride on each heat, with the first four splitting the cash between the top five horses, and the finale on a winner-take-all basis.

U. N. Assembly Again Shelves Red China Bid

For Third Year, Soviet Motion Snowed Under By World Group

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The ninth U. N. General Assembly turned to election of seven vice presidents and seven committee chairmen today after an opening session which again sidetracked the annual Communist bid to seat Red China.

Five of the vice presidencies under U. N. rules go to the "Big Five" permanent members of the Security Council—the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Nationalist China.

Burma and Ecuador were slated for the other two on a geographical rotation basis.

As expected before the session's opening, Dr. Felco N. van Kleef, Netherlands minister to Portugal, was elected Assembly president yesterday after the shelving of the Red China issue.

The resolution putting off action on Russia's proposal to seat Red China was proposed yesterday by the United States. The Assembly adopted it 43-11. It was the third straight year the Assembly has taken such action and by about the same vote margin.

MRS. VIJAYA Lakshmi Pandit of India, as outgoing Assembly president, called yesterday's session to order. She noted the end of the Indochina war and said she hoped the ninth Assembly too would "promote the cause of peace."

Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky then introduced a resolution to have the Assembly say it "considers it necessary that the representative of the Chinese People's Republic, appointed by the Central People's Government, should take the rightful seat of China in the General Assembly and in other organs of the United Nations."

Vishinsky held that the U. N. would be hampered otherwise, and that the Peiping government had shown itself to be peace-loving at the Geneva conference and in Premier Chou En-lai's June talks with India and Burma.

The Soviet diplomat called it intolerable that the "Kuomintang group," as he termed Chiang Kai-shek's representatives, held China's place in the U. N.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. permanent representative to the U. N., replied while Secretary of State Dulles listened.

Lodge moved that the Assembly decide not to consider at this 1954 session "any proposals to exclude representatives of the government of the Republic of China or to seat representatives of the Central People's Government."

Then the American moved that the Assembly vote on his proposal before Vishinsky's, a motion approved 45-7.

Britain, which recognizes Peiping, supported the U. S. bid to shelve the issue.

Child Bride, 14, Center Of Case

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Alvey G. Whitmer, 38-year-old widower with six children and his 14-year-old bride face charges today, she of being a delinquent; he with contributing to her delinquency by marrying her.

Whitmer has six children who range in age from 7 to 15—a year older than his bride, the former Mattie Pearl Herrin.

Deputy Sheriff Lester Isanogle said Whitmer acknowledged marrying the girl in Arlington, Va., last Monday.

Authorities released him on $500 bail but held his bride while they considered her plight.

Federal Court To Rule On Injunctions

U.S. Judge Refuses Immediate Action In Public School Dispute

CINCINNATI (AP)—U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel today denied a petition for a restraining order against the Hillsboro school board to stop alleged segregation in the public schools.

Representatives of several Negro mothers then filed petitions for temporary and permanent injunctions against the board. Judge Druffel set Sept. 29 for a hearing on these new motions.

The suit was believed to be the first of its kind filed in northern courts since the U. S. Supreme Court outlawed segregation in public schools.

Judge Druffel denied the motion for a temporary restraining order because, he said, the defendant Hillsboro board of education had not been officially notified of the proposed action.

The motions for the injunctions were filed by Attorneys Russell L. Carter and James H. McGee, both of Dayton, who also represent the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

THE INJUNCTION petitions seek to prevent the board of education "from enforcing a policy of segregation, and from requiring the plaintiffs and others similarly situated to withdraw from Webster and Washington elementary schools solely because of their race or color."

The petition names as defendants Paul L. Upp, superintendent of schools; Marvel J. Wilkins, president of the board of education; Elmer Hodges, vice president; Wilfred L. Faul, William Lukens and John Henry Brown.

The petition was signed by Carter, McGee, Thurgood Marshall, New York City, special counsel to the National Office of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, and Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, assistant to Marshall.

Marshall was one of the attorneys who argued successfully against segregation before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Carter said the children mentioned in the petition were accepted Sept. 8 as students and assigned to classrooms in the schools in question; that on Sept. 13 they reported to class and on Sept. 14, were advised that they could not remain enrolled in the Webster or Washington schools and must end (Please Turn to Page Two)

Nixon Hurls Challenge At Stevenson

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Vice President Nixon last night challenged Adlai E. Stevenson to offer "constructive" suggestions rather than "guips and criticisms" on the Eisenhower administration.

Decrying what he called Stevenson's failure to offer "constructive suggestions," Nixon said "under the circumstances we can only assume, as his (Stevenson's) national chairman admitted in answer to a question recently, that all a Democrat Congress offers is a return to the policies of the Truman administration."

"Until Mr. Stevenson tells the American people how he differs from those policies we shall have to continue to remind the people what those policies were."

The vice-president said the former Democratic nominee for the presidency would talk in Detroit Saturday and hoped that then Stevenson will say "how his policies and those of a Democrat Congress would differ from the policies of the Truman administration so that we can debate the issues of this campaign on policies of the present rather than the past."

He said Stevenson "criticizes the settlement in Indochina and what has happened to the European Defense Community."

"I think he owes it to the American people as a spokesman for the ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) wing of the Democratic party, to tell us honestly whether he believes the war in Korea ought not to have been ended, whether he believes American boys should have been sent to Indochina, what he would do on EDC or the other problems on which he criticizes the Eisenhower administration."

End of Confusion On Elm Street Is Sought Now

Post Office and City Council Agree
On Designations

Post Office officials and the Washington C. H. Council have joined hands in an effort to clear up some of the confusion over addresses on Elm Street.

Henry Engle, the assistant postmaster, and James F. Parkinson, the city manager, agreed that since so many new homes have been built on the street that runs almost in a circle nearly half around the city, something should be done.

So, a resolution designating South Elm Street from Columbus to the Robinson Road, East Elm Street from the Robinson Road to Main Street (including the two-block jog on Fayette Street) and West Elm Street from Main Street to Highland Avenue (Greenfield Pike) is to be presented to Council at its Wednesday night session.

Passage of the resolution is considered a merely routine. Meanwhile, Engle has prepared letters to Council and each of the 130-plus homes on the street explaining the situation and asking their cooperation. The letters, all along the same lines, also give some of the background that has caused the confusion.

THE ONE TO COUNCIL follows:
"Since Elm street is being improved and many new houses built in recent years, the Post Office is experiencing considerable difficulty in giving satisfactory mail service on Elm St. due to duplication of names.

"This situation also is confusing to police, firemen, ambulance and taxi drivers as well as to the general public, (and especially so to strangers in town) who desire to find a particular number.

"We have a remedy which will this confusion but will depend on the fullest cooperation of you and every resident of Elm St. Investigation has shown that when the City of Washington was numbered and the plan OK'd by council, that part of Elm St. from Columbus Ave. to Robinson Road was designated SOUTH ELM ST. (This part runs North and South).

"From Robinson Road to Fayette St. and continue to Main was designated EAST ELM ST.

"From Main St. to Route 70, (Greenfield Road) was designated WEST ELM ST.

"Thus if you live between Main St. and Route 70 please give your correspondents your correct number and specify WEST ELM. If you live between Main St. and Robinson Road your correct address is EAST ELM St. If you live between Robinson Road and Columbus Ave., your correct address is South Elm St.

Your correct number as recorded at the Post Office is the same as the address on this communication.

"We are striving in conjunction with city officials to give you the best possible service and will appreciate your cooperation."

Steelworkers Rap Republican Record

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers say the Republican administration's record "consists of either inaction or outright rejection" of most of the union's legislative program.

The statement was contained in a resolution adopted yesterday by delegates to the steelworkers' biennial convention here. The resolution said "some portions" of the union's program have been enacted. The resolution was the first of 28 presented to the convention yesterday.

Federal Court

roll in the Lincoln school.

The latter action, the petitions said, constituted segregation.

Officials in Hillsboro insist there is no segregation in their schools.

A rezoning of the city's school districts, which keeps most Negro children out of the previously all-white Webster and Washington schools, became effective last week. But Hillsboro school officials claim the rezoning was done on a residential and not a racial basis.

While the rezoning set up one Negro school district, there are two large Negro residential communities, separated by several city blocks and with one of the white schools about midway between.

Up to the present time Negro children attended the all - Negro Lincoln elementary school. Upon passing from the sixth grade they entered the junior high school, also attended by white youngsters.

After the Supreme Court decision, however, Negro grade school children reported to both Webster and Washington schools.

Rezoning was the only move left because there were not enough desks, seats or room space to accommodate them, school board members claimed. The rezoning left three Negro children eligible for admission to Webster and eight eligible for Washington.

HILLSBORO, seat of Highland County has a population of a little more than 5,000 persons, nearly four-fifths of them white. There are about 800 white children and 67 Negroes enrolled in the schools.

Negro leaders argue that the rezoning was along racial lines; a white boy in a Negro district isn't going to the all-Negro Lincoln school, they say.

Many Negro children were turned away from Washington and Webster schools last week and are being listed as truant.

Meanwhile, a bold new plan to abolish Alabama's compulsory public school system and let the parents say whether they want segregated classrooms has been recommended by a legislative committee and a group of lawyers.

It would open the way for state-subsidized private schools and strike from the state constitution the historic mandate that separate schools must be provided for white and Negro students.

The proposed constitutional amendment is one of eight changes in Alabama's organic law suggested by a special legislative committee and a segregation committee of the Alabama Bar Association as a way of getting around the Supreme Court decision outlawing separate schools.

THE PROGRAM is aimed at removing all reference to public schools in the constitution and rewriting one section which specifically provides for a public school system with separate schools for the white and Negro races.

Two of the proposed amendments also would authorize the legislature to make school officials and employees "judicial officers" to protect them against lawsuit, and about the auditor's report.

Rhodes Audit

"I've been fully informed about the attack made by the auditor of state upon James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the turnpike commission. It is another example of an attempt without regard to facts to assassinate the reputation of an honest and able public official."

THE REPUBLICAN - controlled Legislature ordered the audit which covers the period from September 1949 to the end of 1953. The work so far, which has required the efforts of from two to 11 persons, has cost $45,000.

The audit says that, as of Aug. 1, land costs were nearly $7 million above the original estimate.

In the insurance audit, the report quoted Shocknessy as saying at a commission meeting the commission has no interest in who sells insurance, as long as the company is licensed in Ohio.

Then it says the Standard Accident Insurance Co. wrote $20, 701,717 worth of insurance and the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co. $26,715,173. The law firm of Shocknessy, Summers & Denton is special counsel for both companies and Shocknessy is senior partner of the firm, the report alleged.

Shocknessy denied having anything to do with the insurance companies.

Fidelity said neither Shocknessy or his firm is now representing or has ever represented them.

Standard said the company never has employed Shocknessy but retained John H. Summers on a matter in 1946 concluded in 1950.

Shocknessy said he practices law "in association" with Summers, Florence G. Denton and Howard M. Metzbaum under the common name of Shocknessy, Summers & Denton. He said the association does not practice as a partnership nor jointly.

ONE SECTION of the auditor's report said the J. E. Greiner Co., consulting engineer for the turnpike, originally estimated 2,200 parcels of land costing $11,223,000 would be needed for the turnpike. By Aug. 1, according to the report, land costs reached $17,769, 628—nearly $7 million above estimate.

It hit at the commission practice of paying a 10 per cent bonus on the value of land as appraised to persons who settled promptly.

The bonus payments made up a large factor in the "excessive cost of right of way," the report said and claimed "many persons were paid though the commission didn't get prompt possession."

require the state to defend them against court action.

And to avoid "confusion and disorder and to promote effective and economical planning for education," it would give the right of free choice to parents and guardians who want their children to "attend schools provided for their own race," subject to whatever restrictions the Legislature provides.

A penciled note at the top of the proposed amendment reads:

"Study this closely. This is the clincher."

Pen Pals Can Lead To Better Understanding

We do not know just how or when the movement began, but in Fayette County, as well as in numerous other communities across the nation, there are scores upon scores of so-called pen pals.

These are the boys and girls and in quite a number of cases older people, who are becoming acquainted with other boys and girls and adults, not only in other states but also to a remarkable degree with people in many other parts of the world, by correspondence.

They write letters to each other, send snapshots of themselves or their homes or both, and in general get acquainted with one another's customs and activities.

Nothing could be of greater value in better international understanding. It would be a good idea if more of us took part in this movement.

The 4-H girls and boys of Fayette County, more than 600 in number, have shown a lot of interest in this plan. Many of them have regular pen pals. It also is reported that in the 14 Farm Bureau Councils of Fayette County as well as in the 22 Home Demonstration groups which are active here, this finding of pen pals and an exchange of cordial letters has become a project which has been followed by many individuals.

Some of the correspondence started in this way has led to visits to this country and in several instances to trips into Fayette County, by people of foreign lands. Much of this has meant the building up of cordial relationships beneficial to all concerned.

The Washington Rotary Club for many years has had a growing interest in following lines of the Rotary International program which makes "better international understanding" one of its main objectives. The club here has brought in many speakers in past years who deal with this subject.

There now appears regularly in one nationally circulated girl's magazine, a monthly page of letters from young readers, many from other countries. And frequently mentioned in these letters from abroad is the fact that a pen pal in the United States has subscribed to this publication for a new friend in another land.

We often have heard people express a wish to contribute some effort toward something that would help to achieve a more friendly world feeling, in promoting mutual understanding.

A good many of our various organizations might discover a way to be very helpful in this field by getting pen pals in other nations. Sometimes little things started in this way lead to very great accomplishments, if pursued with diligence and intelligence.

School Problem Grows

With most of the nation's public schools already opened, there is an estimated country-wide shortage of 125,000 teachers. Ohio alone is said to be short 9,000. In most communities schoolrooms are overcrowded and other facilities over-taxed. The present school situation is one of our country's most pressing problems.

It Will Cost More

It will cost more to send your youngster to college this year. A student at a State-supported college or university may be able to get by on a total of anywhere from $1,000 to $1,100 per year, while a year at a privately endowed college or university will cost anywhere from $1,900 to $2,400.

Charley To Quit Writing Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—Charley Butterfield is retiring as radio-TV editor of the Associated Press.

Around here, that's a little like saying the RCA Building is going to be torn down for a parking lot. Matter of fact, most of us were happily convinced that Charley would still be writing about radio long after NBC became a faded dividend memory in the minds of David Sarnoff's descendants.

But Charley says he's tired and wants to go down to Florida and raise chickens. I don't know why. The kid doesn't deserve a rest. We were just getting him broken in.

After all, he has only been writing about radio more than 30 years. He has been radio editor only 27 years. He has done his column only 22 years.

With all that, the boy is only 62. He started young, at 14, on his family's kitchen table in Champaign, Ill. Charley built an amateur wireless station in 1906. "In those days," he recalls, "there were no commercial stations. All I got was coded signals from the government stations. I couldn't understand the code but it was fun for me, anyway. It wasn't for the rest of the neighborhood."

"You see, I used an electro-lytic rectifier to cut in on the house current, which was A. C. Every time I pressed down on the telegraphic key, it dimmed all the lights in the neighborhood. You should've heard the squawks."

By Saul Pett
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

In 1918, he came up to Chicago to do general bureau work for the AP. Within a few years, he was finding stories to write about radio at a time when many people still couldn't spell the word. For example, he wrote about Chicago's "silent nights."

On those nights every station in town closed up so radio owners could begin whirling their dials to see how many long distance stations they could pick up. On a good, clear night you could get Los Angeles.

Charley came to New York as AP radio editor in 1927. This was at a time when radio fans were just switching from battery sets, which frequently spilled over and burned a hole in the living room rug, to receivers using house current.

The big attractions then were the A & P Gypsies, the "Claret Club Eskimos" (an orchestra), Graham McNamee, and the Revelers' Quartet, of whom only Frank Parker is still singing. Charlie also tuned in on the first broadcast by a couple of fellows known then as "Sam and Henry." When the boys left Chicago they had to leave the name behind with the local radio station. In New York they became known as "Amos 'n Andy."

In 1932, Charley made the front pages with an exclusive story. It was the first transatlantic short-wave interview on record. The man on the other end in Vatican City was Guglielmo Marconi.

Even in those days, Charley was firing questions at the experts about a fantastic bit of nonsense known as television. In that interview, Marconi told Charley television's chances were "rapidly" improving.

Charley was writing so long ago about TV the headline writers hadn't even had time to catch up with the name of the new medium. One head over a Butterfield story was: "Sight-seeing by radio."

Charley was not only writing about the new gadget in the early thirties; he even built his own first TV set out of a kit of parts. His first receiver used a neon lamp instead of a cathode ray tube. Thus the picture was dark red and light red instead of black and white.

You didn't have to be a grasshopper to enjoy the first experimental programs that came over Charley's set but it would have helped. Even with a magnifier, that set provided a picture only 1 1/2 inches wide and one inch long. To see anything, he couldn't be any more than two feet away.

In those days, about all there was to watch was experimental pictures transmitted by NBC. Charley particularly remembers one in which all that happened was that a wooden figure of a cat kept revolving around a turntable.

But he watched that postage stamp screen and he watched and reported on everything that came with the bigger and better screens developed since.

Now he says he's going to retire in November, which just goes to show you how tough it is to hold on to help these days.

Dr. Oppenheimer--Complete Man

I have often wondered what a complete man is. Many of the great musicians and philosophers were physically not fit by ordinary standards. Beethoven lived to be 57 but he was deaf; Mozart wrote glorious music but he was tubercular; Aristotle was the master philosopher but he was not an athlete.

The complete man is, of course, perfect. He is a Jove in wisdom, an Apollo in beauty, a Cato in oratory, and a Hercules in strength, all combined in one. Stalin regarded himself as a complete man and ordered the Soviet poets to sing poems to his superiority but he died and was laid out like any other stiff.

The "Manchester Guardian" has apparently discovered the complete man and, as surprising as it is, the editors of that wonderful newspaper found him in the United States.

"Dr. Oppenheimer is one of the most eloquent of American scientists; he is perhaps as near as anybody can get in these complicated days to the complete man. Before leaving high school he was reading Horace without a dictionary and composing French sonnets, as well as taking all science prizes. When he left Harvard he came to Cambridge to study nuclear physics under Rutherford and Thomson and then moved on to Goettingen, Zurich and Leiden. He was teaching physics in California when he was called to head atomic bomb development at Los Alamos. He directed a staff of 4,500 for two and a half years and finished looking as emaciated as a prisoner of war.

"When the first bomb was exploded in New Mexico his first thought was a line from the Bhagavadgita (he reads Sanskrit and five other languages): 'I am become death, the shatterer of worlds.'"

There is more of this but enough has been given to establish the "Manchester Guardian's" claim that Dr. Oppenheimer is a complete man; yet the 992 pages of testimony concerning his relations with Communists while he was making the atom bomb causes one to wonder whether the man is not loose with the truth, whether he is capable of sound judgment. For instance, he found himself in contact with Steve Nelson, a Communist of tremendous importance in the party. So he was asked by Colonel Landale about Nelson. This is the colloquy:

"Landsdale. . . Do you have anyone who is close to you, no that's the wrong word, who is an acquaintance of yours, who may have perhaps been a guest in your house, whom you perhaps knew through friends or relatives who is a member of the Communist Party. By that I mean—

"Oppenheimer. My brother, obviously.

"Landsdale. Well, no, I don't mean him.

"Oppenheimer. I think you probably mean someone who just visited for a few hours.

"Landsdale. Yes.

"Oppenheimer. Yes, certainly, the answer to that is certainly, yes.

"Landsdale. Would you care to give me any of their names?"

"Oppenheimer. There is a girl called Eldred Nelson."

Smallpox Vaccination Puts Curb on Disease

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

The location and size of their vaccination is about the only thing most people think about in relation to smallpox. They have no idea of the severity and danger of the disease.

Most of us have the comfortable feeling that we are thoroughly protected against smallpox and that an epidemic is simply impossible.

Rare in the U. S. A.

Because of widespread vaccination, this disease has become a rare occurrence in the United States, with many large cities not having seen cases for years. However, in a recent study of a group of men entering the Army it was found that almost ten per cent of them had never been vaccinated; of those who had been previously vaccinated sometime during their life, 12 per cent were in need of revaccination in order to continue their immunity.

People living in rural communities are less likely to be vaccinated than those living in the city.

Frequently Fatal

Smallpox can be quite severe, whose mind is so devious and whose associations are so one-sidedly Communist, and whose relations with these Communists are so close and intimate can possibly be a complete man. Being able to read Sanskrit is not quite as essential as sound judgment for the complete man—if ever such a creature could live in this world.

with high fever, chills, headache and then the typical rash. At first this rash consists of small red spots that raise to pimples and later form blisters containing pus.

Smallpox can be fatal to both children and adults and may leave its victim with many disfiguring pock marks on his body. In order to maintain our high standards of health, it is best that we continue to preserve our immunity to smallpox with vaccination at three to five year intervals.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. L.: Will a nearsighted person's eyesight become worse at night?

Answer: Yes, nearsighted people become more so at night, since dim light increases their difficulty.

Youths Indicted On Minor Counts

PAINESVILLE (AP)—Four youths questioned in an attempt to wreck a New York Central train by placing a tie on the tracks were bound to the grand jury yesterday on lesser charges.

Although an information pertaining to the train-wrecking attempt was filed, the charges were for breaking and entering and petit larceny involving a $33 restaurant burglary in Perry. The four are Ronald J. Peterson, 20, of Geneva; Eugene H. King, 19, of Mentor Headlands; and Ronald Davis, 21, and Tkey Cottrell, 18, both of Perry.

Mrs. Van Pelt Is Hostess To Class Members

Members of the King's Daughters Class of First Christian Church motored to Ashville, where they enjoyed a covered dish dinner at the home of Mrs. Charles Van Pelt.

The members sang the doxology before being seated at one long table in the dining room, beautifully decorated with fall flowers for the serving of the delicious meal.

The business session later was in charge of the vice president, Mrs. Carl Meriweather, in the absence of the president, Miss Alice Davis.

The meeting opened with the singing of "School Days" by the group and Mrs. Meriweather gave three readings, "Visit To New York," "Little Boy In Mischief" and "Our Little Ones."

Roll call was responded to by fifteen members who named their favorite subject in school.

The usual reports were heard and accepted and the devotion led by Mrs. Walter Marshall included the reading of the 26th Psalm and the praying of The Lord's Prayer.

The study period was conducted by Miss Margaret Gibson who reviewed the first six chapters of the subject, "The Christ By The Four Gospels."

The meeting closed with the class benediction and informal visiting was enjoyed.

Cigar Makers Shun Female Trade

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The nation's cigar makers would be just as happy if you ladies leave the cigars alone.

Bernard Sless, assistant to the president of the Cigar Institute of America, told a meeting yesterday the cigar business is doing good in strictly a man's field and added: "We consider cigar smoking one of the few male prerogatives left."

BLACK SILK SATIN separates for a new length theater or dinner costume are from Oleg Cassini's fall, 1954, collection. Multicolor silk embroidery brightens the shirtwaist, collared and cuffed in white silk satin. Buttons down the center of the blouse are covered in the fabric, and those for the half-turned cuffs are rhinestones.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hays have returned from a 7,000 mile trip to the West Coast. Enroute they traveled over the northern route visiting a cousin of Mr. Hays, Mr. Mack Burnett and family in Cummings, North Dakota and Yellowstone National Park, going on to Washington where they travelled down the coast through Portland, Oregon, San Francisco, on to Bakerville, California, and visited briefly with Mrs. Harry Spenger and daughter, Barbara. They returned by way of Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest, and were dinner guests of their daughter, Mrs. C. A. Leake, Mr. Leake and family at Indian Hills, Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Grove Davis took their daughter, Jo, to Columbus, Tuesday, when she entered her freshman year at Ohio State University.

Ensemble Designs

The unexpected is an important aspect in ensembles. Doff a casual bell-hop suit jacket and reveal a tweedy sheath cocktail dress. What looks like a fur-sleeved suit turns out to be a fur-sleeved dress with untrimmed, sleeveless midly top. Tweed costume coats reverse to solid color coats.

Junior Miss Styles Slimmer

Taking exciting new shapes, the princess line continues to be an important junior fashion. The princess sheath, with a straight skirt and empire bodice; the tapered dome, with back fullness; and the familiar bell shape are all in for fall. A darted corselet treatment of the princess offers a slender appearance that marks fall '54.

Another popular dress style, the coat dress, appears in tweeds and novelty woolsens. The midy dress offers a new view of the junior horizon.

Sleeve treatment is either the long, tight "slim jim," or the full blouse look. Quaker collars are seen everywhere, while the shirt look, with yoked or blouse bodice, has added gay, "sissy" trims.

In suits, most frequently seen is the short-jacketed, full-skirted "dres" look. The suit costume with box jacket and two piece dress becomes increasingly popular. The empire jacket promises to be a frequent coverup, while the fly-away jacket is also making fashion news.

Twenty-four to forty-inch coats are keyed to the costume look, too. The "blouse-on" offers a top fashion, with its gently blouseed top and slim skirt. Shoulder lines are either natural or set-in. Portrait and peter-pan collar, trimmed with braid, add new notes to necklines. The princess coat, the boy coat, the reefer and the loose coat remain as important fashions in the classic category, and look new in soft-textured, lustrous fabrics.

SKIRTS, in general, will be full. Cotton prints, quilted with fibreglas for built-in insulation, are new and promise to be popular. Gores, unpressed box pleats or partial shirring are also in the junior fashion spotlight.

Jumpers are prevalent this fall in shape for flattery and grace. Many have companion shirts, baby blouses or ribbed knit blouses. The novelty tweed coat-dress has its counterpart in jumpers, and jumpers also are getting the darted corselet treatment.

Turquoise is an important color for juniors, cropping up in Donegal tweeds and as an accent for gray flannel. Combinations of black and brown, particularly when checked or striped, will be fashion's favorite duo. Other important colors are blue to plum purple, bitter-sweet, moss to olive green—and much jet gray. There will be plenty of chalk or woven stripes, raised plaids, jacquard and dobby weaves embroideries and conversation prints.

Softer fabrics appear in most junior styles. Wool and jersey tweeds or wool and rabbit-hair combinations look like favorites, while wool flannel is still going strong. The "miracle" fabrics are in for a big season, while silk antique taffeta, for dress, faille alpaca, corduroy and season-spanning cottons round out the new fabric list.

Maternity Styles Go Smart for Fall

The big news in maternity clothes is the costume suit—with a smart overblouse matching the jacket lining. Scarves will also get the matched treatment.

The sailor dress, with its softer lines, is another important maternity style. Big midy collars call attention to the neckline and away from the waistline. Many collars, in linen, faille or fur, are detachable. Turtle necks also provide an interesting neckline variation.

Fur will be popular, not only at the neck, but as trim for cap sleeves and jacket hems.

This year's maternity clothes have more back interest. Jackets are blouse, have inverted pleats, high tabs or back belts. The main color story is told in brightly accented neutrals.

Necklines Require Scarf for Fill-in

The wide-open and plunging V necklines of fall dresses and dress-up blouses invite ample use of soft scarves and gilets. Important "top interest" comes from exciting colors and draping treatments.

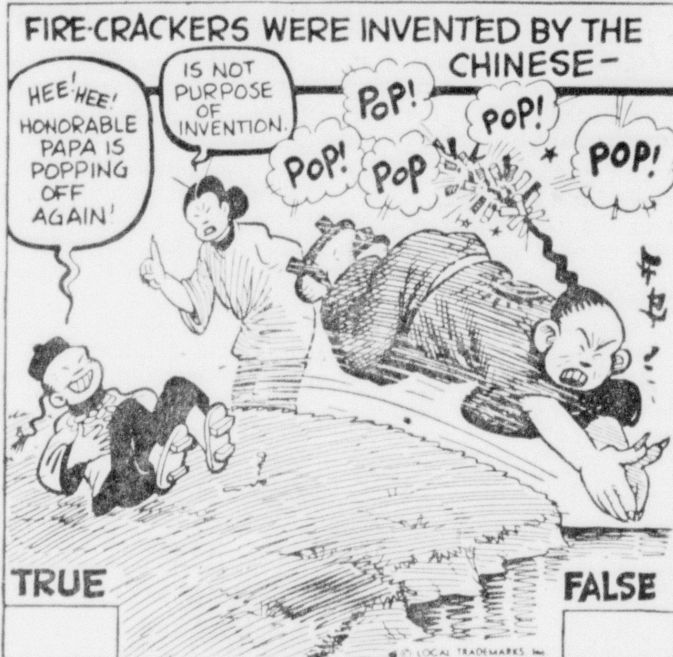

Cloud-sheer chiffons and gauzy silks in deep cerise, brilliant tangerine, rich peacock provide the vibrant color touches that point up menswear shaded costumes. On the otherhand, beige and muted taupe jerseys are striking accents for bright colored bodices.

Bender To Be Chief Speaker Here Friday

Republicans Plan Big Dinner Meeting At Country Club

Max Dice, chairman of the "Bender for U. S. Senator" committee in Fayette County, reports that all plans are going forward satisfactorily for the Republican dinner at the Country Club Friday evening which will be the real opening in the campaign here where Congressman Bender will be the principal speaker.

George N. Bender

The dinner for which tickets are now being sold by Republican committeemen and others, is scheduled for 7 P. M. and any voter in the county will be welcome to attend.

After 8:30 all others who have been unable to be present for the dinner, are invited to come to the meeting as Ansel Kirk has agreed to provide all the extra chairs necessary.

It has been learned that because of a previous engagement, Leo Blackburn, Republican candidate for Congress in this district, cannot be present but agreed to have a leader of his committee from another county here to speak briefly for him.

IT IS STATED that Congressman George Bender has some facts to present to Fayette County people Friday night which will prove to them the great need for electing a Republican Congress in November, which will carry on the Eisenhower program and how easily an unfriendly Congress can upset the plans for progress in economy and progress which have been started.

Such an upset, Bender declares, will be purely for political purposes in order to return to an administration of waste, spending and increasing debt, such as the country witnessed for many years before 1953.

Helping in sponsoring the Friday event here will be the county Republican Executive Committee, the county Republican Women's Committee and the Fayette County Young Republican Club.

Jet-Propelled Squid Studied For Secrets Of Nerve Work

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of five articles on what science is finding out about man and what makes him tick.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
WOODS HOLE, Mass., (AP)—Messages speeding along your nerves are part of the wondrous machinery by which you can read these words. Or light a cigarette. Or lift your fork.

But exactly how do nerves work? Where do they get their electric energy?

This secret is being tackled at the Marine Biological Laboratory here, where each summer 450 scientists and students work to fathom

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)
Dr. Ruth Teeters, first grade teacher at Sunnyside, presented to the PTA Council a very interesting and enlightening explanation of how reading is taught to first graders. A report similar to this should be scheduled by each PTA for one of its meetings. Fewer questions would be raised by parents concerning the methods now used in teaching reading. In discussing the fact that all children are not ready to read at the same time, Dr. Teeters pointed out that they differ physically, emotionally, socially and intellectually.

"Just as all children do not weigh the same, or have the same height, or cut their first tooth on the same day, or begin to talk at the same time, so children are not ready for the same skills at the same moment," Dr. Teeters declared.

She illustrated her talk by using some of the actual materials and lessons that are used in the first grade and showed all of the books that are used in the city schools to teach reading to the first graders. She stressed that the phonetic method is used extensively in teaching beginners to read and enunciate.

The first meeting of the extension class, "Workshop on Remedial Reading," will be held in the former cafeteria room in the high school at 7:15 P. M. Thursday, September 23. In addition to the city teachers, county school teachers are eligible and welcome to enroll in this class which is being conducted under the supervision of Miami University.

Cherry Hill's PTA meeting on Oct. 5 will feature a talk by Homer C. Lucas, vice president of Ginn and Co., on the subject "The Teacher's Silent Assistant". . . sounds intriguing. . . a capacity crowd is expected to help welcome the new principal, Earl Miller.

As evidence that there is increased interest in the business education department, there are 225 students enrolled in typing this year. . . 152 are beginners and 73 are in the advanced course. . . there are nine sections of typing, six are first year classes and three are second year. . . Miss Gladys Melson, Miss Jane Trent, and Miss Isabelle Reid are the typing instructors. . . $1350 worth of new typewriters had to be added to take care of the increased load plus new chairs and typing tables.

a host of nature's puzzles. Here where waters of the warm Gulf Stream and cold Labrador current meet, the sea supplies a rich variety of marine life as tools to study the engines of life.

A curious jet-propelled fish, the squid, is a perfect tool for the nerve studies directed by Dr. Kenneth S. Cole of the Naval Research Institute, Bethesda, Md.

From the squid he takes the large main nerve, the axon. In life, the axon is part of the nerve control system of the squid's jet action.

The squid, a fish 1 to 16 inches long, commonly used as bait and seafood, sucks in water and squirts it out through a special tube behind its head. It can point the tube backward for sudden forward jet speed, or flip the tube to go scooting backward. It can use the tube as a jet brake while it's in forward or reverse motion.

The squid axon is a long nerve, but no thicker than a half dozen threads intertwined. Still it is large enough so a tiny electrode can be inserted inside to measure electric currents or potentials. The electrode detects activity when a small electric current is applied.

Scientists here and elsewhere have cracked part of the mystery of how nerves carry their signals. The current along nerves does not consist of electrons, as in an ordinary electric wire. Nerve current is generated by electrically-charged atoms—ions—of sodium and potassium.

When a nerve is resting, there are more potassium ions inside the nerve than outside. There are a lot more sodium ions outside than inside. Sea water and all body fluids are rich in sodium, which is part of ordinary salt.

In the resting nerve, the electric potential inside the nerve is smaller than that outside the nerve.

But when the nerve is stimulated—by a message from the brain, by pain, or an electric stimulus applied to the squid axon—there is a lightning-fast interchange of ions from outside to inside.

Sodium ions come pouring in through the nerve membrane, and supply the energy for transmitting the message. Potassium ions start flowing outside.

The electrical potential changes in a wave-like motion along the length of the nerve, and the wave movement carries the message.

When the current has passed, the original balance between sodium and potassium ions is restored, and the nerve is ready within a few thousandths of a second to send another message.

Dr. Cole and associates are engaged in difficult experiments and measurements to learn precisely what controls this flow of ions. What kind of "valve" is at work? Is it some potent chemical, an enzyme perhaps?

The objective is to learn how a normal nerve works. That might bring important knowledge for treating human nervous ailments or preserving normal health longer, or for improved electronic equipment. No one can easily foretell what uses may come later from discovery of basic facts.

Scores of similar projects engage scientists and graduate students working in 145 well-equipped laboratory benches and rooms at the Marine Biological Laboratory (MBL).

As an example, what happens when a sperm cell fertilizes an egg cell? How does the egg change to permit entry by only one sperm? Dr. Arthur K. Parpart of Princeton University, vice-president of MBL, is using sea urchins in this study.

Can fish or other forms of marine life supply new antibiotics against human disease? What happens in the murky depths of the sea to destroy or promote the life of food-giving fishes and crustaceans?

For science the world is full of unanswered questions.

The laboratory gives scientists a chance for summer work to continue researches already under way at their own universities or to begin some new line of questioning, on animals or plants not available in their home laboratories.

MBL is a nonprofit corporation with 40 scientist members—mostly university biologists—who elect 32 trustees. Scientists apply to work here, paying $250 to $300 for laboratory facilities, $5 a week for room, and $15 weekly per person for tasty meals in the mess hall.

Many make financial sacrifices to pursue their research in summer. Many bring their wives and children. Many are young graduate students, and thus romance is no stranger in this center of science.

"The lab is sometimes called a matrimonial agency—there's a saying that most marriages are made in Heaven, or Woods Hole," laughed Dr. Philip B. Armstrong,

The Record-Herald Wed., Sept. 22, 1954 7
Washington C. H., Ohio

MBL director from the State University of New York Medical Center, Syracuse. Dr. Armstrong met his wife here.

Famous professors teach summer courses in physiology and biochemistry. Lights often burn late at night in laboratories.

Fees paid by scientists cover only 40 per cent of the lab's costs. A million dollar endowment brings income, but another million is needed. Grants from such organizations as the Rockefeller Foundation, American Cancer Society, Office of Naval Research and National Science Foundation supply funds. So do contributions from individuals.

Scientists, dressing informally, look for facts and resist the daily lure of beaches and sailboats.

Here science looks to the sea from which man came by evolutionary theory—to learn more about man and nature.

Late Wheat Sowing Looming In Ohio

Very late wheat sowing is looming as result of the late maturing corn and as a result farmers will be picking their corn the first day it is dry enough so the ground will be available for wheat sowing.

Usually around Oct. 1 is the time farmers want to sow their wheat, but indications are that much wheat will be sowed well around the middle of October.

However, recent dry seasons, when wheat sown about the usual time, failed to sprout until in November, have demonstrated that late October and early November wheat may produce a good crop.

Old Fire Cistern Almost Forgotten

Apparently the work of filling up the huge fire cistern under the intersection of Fayette and Court Streets a number of years ago, was very successful. Only once or twice since that time has it been necessary to apply additional surfacing material where depressions appeared, at the point where the manholes formerly existed.

This most-used of all intersections in the city covered a death trap in the old cistern, which occupied a large portion of the center of the intersection and was filled with water.

Some 10 years or more ago the cistern was filled with many loads of clay, and the dangerous spot eliminated.

Ripover, Prince Bay Divide
Lebanon Two-Year-Old Pace

LEBANON, Ohio (P)—Ripover, a 2-year-old pacer driven by Clayton Cox, was edged out in the first heat of the divided feature purse last night, but put on the steam the second time around to win handily.

The juvenile finished second to Prince Bay in the first mile test in 2:14. But in his winning heat he flashed around the oval nearly three seconds faster, covering the distance in 2:11 2-5. The pacer is owned by H. B. Barker of Indianapolis.

The feature tonight is a Class B pace for a $600 purse. Likely choices in the event are Sweet Widow, Lady Rhapsody and Shorty Guy.

Last night's attendance was 1,540. Mutuel handle was $46,905.

Summaries:
First race, Class 25 trot. One mile. $400 purse. Lady Willard (Loar) $39.20, 18.60, 5.60; Clinton's Girl (Boyer) 5.80, 2.80; Flower of Algiers (Irvine) 2.80. Time 2:20 2-5.
Second race, Class 24 trot. One mile. $500 purse. Biffy Tom (Bowen) $13.00, 6.40, 5.00; Zoom Way (Grandstaff) 8.00, 5.40; Doctor Mike (Mikesell) 3.60. Time 2:16 2-5. Daily double—$174.20.
Third race, Two-year-old pace.

Buckeyes Ailing, Coach Hayes Says

COLUMBUS (P)—Ohio State, in its 1954 football opener here against Indiana Saturday, will be handicapped because of numerous bloody injuries, says Coach Woody Hayes.

"The toughest game will be the first one," he said yesterday. Hayes asserted, "We couldn't play two complete teams if we wanted to due to the number of injuries. We had planned to do it in the spring but will be unable to do so now."

Five men scheduled to miss the opener are ends Frank Ellwood, Lalo Blazeff and Jerry Trabue, guard Aurelius Thomas and quarterback Lyn Theis.

Sulky Pileup Colors Trots At Delaware

DELAWARE (P)—A pileup of five sulky-seated drivers yesterday during the featured $8,035 Breeders' Filly Stake for 3-year-old trotters on the Delaware Fair Grand Circuit harness racing card.

No one was injured, seriously but four horses raced away without drivers.

The race went to Stenographer, owned by Max Hempt of Camp Hill, Pa., and driven by Del Miller. Stenographer took the first heat handily, but broke in the second as Miller struggled to avoid the loose horses on the track.

Comanche went on to win, but was drawn for the third heat and Stenographer was declared the winner.

The upset occurred when Myrtle Sue, driven by Don Taylor, stepped into the wheel of the sulky pulled by Doe Hanover, with Johnny Simpson of Hanover, Pa., driving near the quarter mile pole in the second heat.

Simpson was thrown over the fence as his filly went down. He was treated for a deep gash over his right eye at a hospital here.

Three other horses crashed into the leading pair. As drivers tumbled out, four loose horses raced away. One of them bothered Stenographer, causing her break.

Colonels, Indians To Meet In Duel

COLUMBUS (P)—The teams finishing first and second in the American Association pennant chase, Indianapolis and Louisville, will fight it out in the league's final playoffs to determine Little World Series representative.

Louisville moved into the finals last night by scoring two runs in the 10th inning on a home run by Bob Broome for a 4-2 victory over Columbus. It was the deciding contest of a seven-game series.

The final best-of-seven series will open tonight in Indianapolis. The Indians eliminated Minneapolis from the playoffs Monday night.

Carter, Herman Slated For Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Ex-light-weight king Jimmy Carter meets Freddie (Babe) Herman here tonight in a 10-round warup for his twice delayed title fight.

This fight replaces the championship battle in which Carter was to have met Paddy DeMarco, who came up with a sore elbow. Their title battle was rescheduled for Nov. 17. The Carter-Herman show will be nationally televised at 9 p. m. EST.

Massillon '11' Listed As Top Team In Ohio

COLUMBUS (P)—Massillon's Tigers were off and running toward their seventh straight Ohio High School football championship today.

Picking up where they left off a year ago, the Stark County stalwarts snatched first place in the opening Associated Press poll of the top 10 teams.

In second place were Canton McKinley's Bulldogs while Portsmouth's Trojans, second a year ago, were third with 62. Springfield wound up fourth.

Next in line were Alliance, Warren, Mansfield, Middletown, Fremont and Urbana and Jackson tied for 10th.

Some practically unknown teams popped up among the also-rans. Here's how they finished behind the top 11:

Dayton Chaminade, Dayton Roosevelt, Dayton Fairmont, Youngstown Rayen, Barberton, Toledo Waite, Hamilton, Athens, New Philadelphia, Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Dayton Wilbur Wright, Coal Grove, Wellston, Canton Central Catholic, Toledo Devilbiss, Chauncey-Dover, Lakewood, Niles, Cleveland Benedictine, South Point, Gallopis, East Liverpool, Cleveland Rhodes, Chesapeake, Brookfield, Lima South, Cincinnati Purcell, East Cleveland Shaw, Wheelersburg.

Winterville made it 35 games without a loss, and 28 straight wins, by defeating Springfield Twp. of Jefferson County 25-13; Chauncey-Dover ran its unbeaten string to 32 with a 31-6 conquest of Nelsonville, and Portsmouth won its 14th in a row against Columbus Aquinas.

Columbus Central's 15-12 win over Steubenville was the first for the state capital club over the Big Red in 17 attempts, and was only the fourth time since 1910 the easterners had dropped the opener.

Talk on Schools Heard by BPW

Three New Members Voted Into Club

There are no legal requirements in Ohio today specifying what shall be taught in the schools of Ohio, Fred J. Milligan, secretary and counsel for the Committee for Ohio Schools told the Business and Professional Women's Club at its meeting at the Country Club here Tuesday evening.

He declared that the Ohio School Survey Commission, which compiled the School Code of 60,000 words recommended courses of instruction in Ohio Schools "shall" require the teaching of health and physical education; effects of narcotics and alcoholic beverages, first aid; safety and fire prevention; history of the United States and the state of Ohio; the language arts, including reading, spelling, oral and written English and literature; mathematics; natural science, which brought Arbor Day into the schools, and the fine arts.

These recommendations were presented to the Legislature in a bill introduced in the House in 1943; it specified that all the previous required courses be retained and that one new course, the history of Ohio, be added.

In the House education committee, to which the bill was referred, 321 amendments to the bill were offered to the new School Code, Milligan said, and that added that one of them changed the word "shall" to "may."

This change of "shall" to "may" Milligan declared, meant that, with one exception, all legal requirements for courses of instruction in Ohio schools were abolished; the exception was the requirement for one unit of American history and government in high school.

Thus, he said, Ohio was left with no legal requirements for teaching and only a list of subjects that "may" be taught.

He said school legislation is one of the most difficult things to get through the Legislature and commented "people responsible for our schools resent being told what to do."

THE COMMITTEE for Ohio schools, of which he is the secretary, is a voluntary organization, Milligan said, which seeks to establish a minimum fundamental course of study within the school law without attempting to detail how or when such courses must be taught.

The Ohio School Survey Commission, of which Milligan is a member, was created by the Legislature to make a study of all phases of education in the state; it is to cover redistricting, financing and building as well as the courses of study.

Milligan was introduced as the principal speaker of the evening by Miss Mary Sauer following the dinner. Miss Sauer is chairman of the legislative committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Fern Chaffin, Miss Christine Evans, Miss Miriam Fite, Miss Jo Larimer, Miss Marie Melvin, Mrs. George O'Brian, Mrs. Pauline Spragg and Mrs. Madison Swope.

Mrs. Howard Dellinger, the president, called for the introduction of guests at the start of the dinner. They were Miss Nancy Kimmey and Mrs. Elton Rhoad.

Marvin Dement of Jeffersonville sang "Water Boy" and "Green Years." He was accompanied by Mrs. Wanye Hill.

During the business meeting which followed the address by Milligan, the secretary's report was given by Miss Jane Jefferson and the treasurer's report by Mrs. E. C. Urton.

Miss Marjorie Evans, a member of the education committee, introduced two Washington C. H. High School students who had been chosen to attend the meeting as the "Girls of the Month."

They were Miss Laurann Beard daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D.

Martha is a member of the band, Future Teachers, Student Council, National Honor Society and Y-Teen.

Each girl responded by telling of her plans for future education and thanked the club for the honor.

Miss Grace Huston, membership chairman, presented Mrs. George Stitt, Mrs. Homer Emery and Mrs. Madge Winter who were voted into the club as new members.

Mrs. William Rogers, public affairs chairman, announced Oct. 10-16 as the dates the 125 members of the WCH Club will join other clubs in observing "National Business Women's Week."

On Sunday, Oct. 10, the district meeting will be held in Greenfield.

Plans have been made for the club to assemble Oct. 11 at the Singer Sewing Center for a sewing instructor. On the night Oct. 13, the club members will assemble at the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium for a cooking school conducted by Mrs. Guy Briggs. Announcement will be made later as to a special meeting for Thursday night. On Sunday, Oct. 17, the club will attend the McNair Memorial Church as a group.

Mrs. M. J. Whitfield, a member of the finance committee announced plans for a benefit card party at the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium on Oct. 27.

Mrs. Dellinger appointed Mrs. Howard Graham National Security chairman and Miss Marjorie Evans as the new trustee for the education fund committee.

Achievement Night At Jeff. is Friday

The annual Jefferson Township 4-H Achievement Night has been slated for Friday.

Under the sponsorship of Marshall Grange the program is to get under way at 8 P. M. in Grange Hall in Jeffersonville.

The Grange committee chairman said it was hoped that all 4-H members and their parents would be at the meeting.

Achievements of the boys and girls last year are to be recognized by Albert G. Cobb, the associate county agent. Awards and premiums won by the 4-H members at the Fair last summer are to be presented at this meeting.

Refreshments are to be served at the close of the recognition ceremonies.

Extension Service Facing Problems

The Agricultural Extension Service, which occupies a key position in the overall farming operations of Fayette County, apparently is running into a scarcity problem—scarcity of uncoming personnel—that already is making itself felt here.

Fayette County has no home demonstration agent now for the first time in nearly ten years. Mrs. Wayne Woodyard resigned last summer to return to Washington C. H. High School faculty as head of the home economics department and County Agent W. W. Montgomery said that, so far as he knows, the Extension Service has no one in line to take her place.

There are many other counties in the state where the Extension Service staff has vacancies to be filled, Montgomery said.

Inability to get trained Extension Service agents, Montgomery traced to a scarcity of young people taking the required courses in college.

WHAT THE future holds is conjectural, but according to figures sent to Montgomery by the College of Agriculture of Ohio State University, about 50 percent of the freshmen students in the Agricultural College come from city homes. At Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y., the figure is about 65 percent, it was said. Ohio, Montgomery added, may reach the 65 percent ratio by 1970.

Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) now contributes most Agriculture students at Ohio State, Montgomery said, with Franklin County (Columbus) second. More than half of the students entering the College of Agriculture, he declared never lived on a farm or milked a cow, except possibly during a summer vacation.

The reverse of this condition prevails in the vocational agriculture courses in high school, including the two in Fayette County, one at Jeffersonville and the other at Washington C. H.

Vocational Agriculture enrollees must either live on the farm or have access to a tract of land so they can carry out their farming projects. Virtually all of the Future Farmers in Fayette County were born on the farm and still live there.

Both screamed for help, but the screams were unheard for what was estimated later to be a half hour.

Finally, two workmen heard the screams and pulled David to safety.

Applicants Are Interviewed

Health Board Here Seeking Sanitarian

Several applicants were interviewed by the Fayette County Board of Health Tuesday afternoon, for the position of registered sanitarian.

The position was made vacant by the resignation recently of Robert Quade who left here to accept a similar position in Norwood, Ohio, a city of 40,000 inhabitants.

Dr. Dyer, county health commissioner, was unable to be present at this session due to an urgent appointment he had made in another city earlier. The other board members talked with two applicants but made no decision owing to the fact that another applicant, unable to be here Tuesday, is still to be interviewed.

It was stated that the board may come to a decision after another meeting to be held next Tuesday when Dr. Dyer also will be present.

Car and Truck Crash in Bridge

Three Hospitalized; No Charges Filed

A collision between a car and a truck on the Palmer pike off Route 35 sent three persons to the hospital Tuesday afternoon. The wreck occurred in the one-lane bridge over Rattlesnake Creek.

Sheriff Orland Hays reported a 1946 Plymouth driven by Archie F. Shadley of Milledgeville was almost across the bridge when Ernest E. Knisely of Washington C. H. entered the bridge with his 1-ton Chevrolet truck. Both the car and the truck were traveling slowly, he said.

Three occupants of the car were taken in the Gerstner ambulance to Fayette Memorial Hospital. Archie Shadley was treated for scratches and bruises; his wife, Martha, for cuts and bruises; and their son, Fred, 17, for injuries to his left knee and a fractured rib. All three were released to their home after treatment.

The other two occupants of the car, also children of Mr. and Mrs. Shadley, were uninjured, but accompanied their parents and their brother to the hospital.

Knisely, driver of the truck, was unhurt. According to Sheriff Hays, the bridge on which the accident occurred is one lane wide for a total of 102 feet. He estimated damage to the car at $250, and to the truck at $175. No charges were filed.

Marietta Banker Held For Theft

MARIETTA (AP)—Bank executive Robert R. Truelson, 36, is in Washington County Jail after his arrest for embezzling more than $4,000.

Truelson, personal loan department manager of the First National Bank of Marietta, waived preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner R. W. Riggs and was bound over to the federal grand jury under $4,500 bond.
